Cornea Society

Advancing the treatment of corneal disease

Welcome!

The Cornea Society was founded in 1975 in recognition of the contributions of its original namesake, Ramon Castroviejo, MD, a consummate educator and a pioneer in corneal transplantation. The Society of over 900 members fosters the exchange of information about the cornea and anterior segment of the eye through scientific meetings, communications, a scientific journal, and online and print clinical newsletters and content. It serves its members as an international organization dedicated to advancing understanding of the cornea, external eye and ocular surface, and acts as a representative voice for corneal specialists globally.

The Cornea Society values the participation of our corporate partners and is supportive of the role that they continue to play in our efforts to provide our member ophthalmologists with quality information, technologies, services, and products.
